He entered the service as a private and worked up to the rank of sergeant, being assigned to the 80th field artillery, battery D, of the 7th division. He did not arrive in Europe in time to participate in the fighting, but was there about a year. He returned to the United States on the transport Kronland, which sailed from St. Nazaire the middle of July.

A close and exciting game of baseball was played on the Goddard campus last evening between the Barre Presbyterian Sunday school team and the team of the Westerville Episcopal church, the former winning by the score of 10 to 9 amid much excitement. The feature of the game was a home run over the bank; and "Gee, it was an awful wallop," but none of the amateur reporters seemed to remember who the hero of the wallop was. The battery for the winners was McEneaney and Comelli and for the losers Racer and Littlewood. To-night another big bill will be staged on the same campus when the victorious Presbyterians will meet the parent Episcopal church team of this city in a clash of baseball skill and pyrotechnics. (Later: "Extra Special"—"Buck" Ferrari was the welder of the ash in the home run drive that tied the score in the ninth and paved the way to the winning tally.)
